Subject: So this is punishment?

Dear Sirs,

I cannot believe with the debut of Windows XP, that Microsoft has been punished at all. Just the opposite has occurred. Microsoft has succeeded in building a program that is even more filled with direct referrals to Microsoft products. I thought they were not supposed to be able to do that anymore. It is a sad statement for Justice that Microsoft can go on unhindered in its goal of total domination of programs used for PC's. A sad day indeed.
